Vincent van Gogh was a man of far reaching and titanic emotions that he poured into his paintings, which then spilled into his personal life. Never fully at ease in company, his only closest and dearest friend was his brother Theo who loved him regardless.

This work is an interpretation of the internal workings of his mind – from the female voices in his head to the guilt ridden reactions of his words to Theo resulting in incredible masterpieces. With a cast of three and an amazing set and original score, this work is set to fly.
